IMPORTANT – Please note that private accommodation is not vetted by the College.

It is advisable (where possible) to view any property before committing to a tenancy.

Whilst we can't take responsibility for problems that may occur while living in accommodation found using this guide, our Student Advisors can offer you support if you have any issues.

Renting: The Basics

Lease

Whether you decide to stay in student accommodation, rent on your own or share a flat, you should always sign a contract; which is usually called a tenancy agreement or a lease. This will have information and details the terms and conditions of your lease and should be signed by you and the landlord.

A standard lease usually includes:

- Your name, your landlord's name and the address of the property
- The date the tenancy began
- The duration of the tenancy
- The amount of deposit, rent payable and the dates when your rent is due
- Details of who is responsible for payment of the utilities and Council Tax
- Whether your landlord will provide any services e.g: laundry, maintenance of common parts
- The length of notice required by both parties to terminate the contract

Deposits / Rent in advance

Before you move into your accommodation you'll probably have to pay a deposit (up to two months rent) which you pay to cover any unpaid rent and bills or damage to the property before you move out. As long as you've not breached your tenancy, your deposit should be returned to you in full once you move out.

By law, to ensure that your deposit is retained and returned to you fairly, landlords and letting agents should be adhering to the 'rent deposit scheme' which is run by independent companies that are approved by the Scottish Government. If your landlord isn't in a rent deposit scheme, you're within your rights to have them charged which could result in them paying you up to three times your deposit. For more information please visit:

www.mydepositsscotland.co.uk

When you sign your lease make sure you check the details to see what your deposit will cover and how it'll be returned. You should also ask for an inventory of contents of the property. If there are any items missing or damaged, let the landlord know straight away.

As well as a deposit, most landlords will ask for a rent payment upfront. This is known as "rent in advance". Usually landlords ask for one month's rent in advance, together with the deposit.

Health & Safety

Make sure your rented accommodation has the following:

- Smoke/carbon monoxide detection system
- Gas Safety Record
- Electrical System Certificate
- No bars on the windows
- Effective door & window locks
- Good external lighting
- Access to late night public transport

If your landlord buys new equipment for the property such as a microwave, kettle, toaster etc, make sure they provide you with the instructions.

There should be at least one smoke detector on each floor of the property, and if the alarms are installed after September 2007, they should be mains powered rather than battery powered. Your landlord is responsible for providing this.

If you live in accommodation that is classed as 'House of Multiple Occupancy' (HMO) the rules for fire safety are slightly different. See below for further details.

HMO Licences

A HMO (House of Multiple Occupancy) property is accommodation that is shared by three or more tenants who aren't members of the same family. HMO landlords must have a licence from the council for every HMO. This ensures that the property is managed properly and meets certain safety standards. This is done by the landlord providing each tenant with a clear statement, in a form they can understand and keep for reference, of what's expected of them and what they can expect from the landlord. This includes details of rent (as stated above) and the responsibilities of the landlord and the tenant when dealing with any cleaning, maintaining and repairing of the property.

Standards that an HMO property should meet include:

- Bedrooms should be able to accommodate a bed, a wardrobe and a chest of drawers.
- One sink and one cooker for every five tenants.
- There should be one WC for every five tenants and one bath or shower for every six tenants.
Each bedroom and living room should have a fixed heating appliance.
- Each bedroom and living room should have adequate natural lighting and ventilation from a window. Kitchens, bathrooms and toilets should have either natural ventilation or adequate mechanical ventilation.
- There should be at least one electric lighting point in every room space which measures an area of two square metres or more.
- The property must have adequate fire precautions, including provision for detection, escape from the building, and fighting fire.
- The property should have secure locks on all access doors and on the doors of residents' rooms where appropriate.

If staying in an HMO, please keep yourself up to date with the standards and get other relevant info by checking <https://www.gov.uk/private-renting/houses-in-multiple-occupation>

Gas Appliances

Your landlord is responsible for making sure that any gas appliances are maintained and are in good working order. Gas boilers should be checked every year by someone registered with the Gas Safe Register (this replaced the Corgi Register). Your landlord must also keep a record of these checks which you can ask to see at any point.

Repairs

It's your responsibility as the tenant to look after the property and inform the landlord of any repairs that need to be carried out. You must keep the property clean and make sure the fixtures and fittings are kept in good working order (allowing for normal wear and tear). If there's any damage to the property, you should inform the landlord immediately. If a landlord fails to carry out reported repairs you can contact your local Citizens Advice Bureau, (visit their website to find your local office www.glasgowcentralcab.org.uk).

Council Tax

Council Tax is a charge that you pay to your local Council. Only those over 18 are liable, although most full time students are exempt from Council Tax charges. You will, however, still have to claim the exemption. To do this, you'll have to complete an exemption form and return it to the relevant council. Information on Council Tax exemption and reduction should be available on your local council website.

If you are a Glasgow City Council resident you can fill the form in online at www.glasgow.gov.uk. If you have any questions, you can reach Glasgow City Council on 0141 287 5050.

For the purposes of Council Tax a student is:

- Someone undertaking a specified course at a college or university in the UK or other EU state for 21 hours or more per week for at least 24 weeks; or
- Someone under 21 in non-advanced education undertaking a course or courses lasting at least 12 hours or more a week for at least 3 months.

Further info can be found at:

<http://www.cpag.org.uk/sites/default/files/Benefits%20for%20Young%20People%20%28March%2019%29.pdf>

If you share a flat with someone who is not a student and that person is liable to pay Council Tax, they can claim a 25% discount.

Private Accommodation Providers

Although we'd love you to stay with us, places are limited and as such you may wish to look at alternative options. Below is a list of privately run student residencies in Glasgow which are close to our campuses. Please look at all your options as prices vary. You can choose to live in a single en-suite room and share kitchen facilities, or you can rent a flat on your own; generally it's cheaper to share accommodation. Rent usually includes utilities but it's important that you check this before committing to a tenancy. Remember, the College doesn't vet or recommend private accommodation providers.

Private Letting

There are lots of ways to find property with a private landlord. Some landlords manage the letting process themselves, whilst others use letting agents who help them rent and maintain their property.

The internet is the best place to search for a flat. A lot of students use Gumtree to look for flatshares. If you're replying to an advert from a private landlord or flatshare and you arrange a viewing, it's always a good idea to take a friend with you.

Letting Agents

Many private landlords use Letting Agents or Estate Agencies to advertise and manage their properties. They will often ask for a holding fee for a property and may ask for a guarantor. You can find a list of Letting Agents in Glasgow:

www.citylets.co.uk/letting-agents-glasgow.

Homeless: Emergency Accommodation

If you find yourself suddenly homeless for any reason, or circumstances mean that you are unable to access your own accommodation read on.

Glasgow City Council's Statutory Homelessness Duty

Glasgow City Council's statutory homelessness duties are managed by Homelessness Services. They can give support to anyone who is homeless, threatened with homelessness, and can give advice on homelessness issues through their Community Casework Services.

If you're homeless, or think you might become homeless, the service will make sure that you are offered an interview at your local Community Casework Team. Arrangements will then be made for the appropriate Community Casework Team to manage your case.

Simon Community Scotland

Simon Community Scotland are a charity working to combat the causes and effects of homelessness. They have a number of projects in place including a rent deposit scheme and the Nightstop Project. If you need to make a NEW CLAIM for Housing Benefit, you will need to claim Universal Credit.

Most full-time students are not eligible for Housing Benefit; however, if you are currently receiving this, you can continue to do so until your circumstances change. For further information on eligibility for Housing Benefit, please see: <https://www.gov.uk/housing-benefit>.

Universal Credit does not include Council Tax Reduction, you must apply for this separately.

If you do not qualify for Universal Credit and, as a result, find yourself in financial hardship you can apply to the college Discretionary Hardship Fund for possible further funding

How do I apply for Universal Credit?

Visit the Department for Work and Pensions website to make an application:
